

My Covid -19 story

Unprecedented times will require unprecedented measures. The explosion of the novel corona virus led to the emergence of this unimagined world of confinement and isolation. Its for sure that each and every person has its own fair share of stories. Just like a coin harbouring two faces , individual can possess both cheerful as well as sorrowful stories to share.

The world before the Covid -19 pandemic , a vibrant world indeed filled with lively things and energetic activities throttling at the highest speed with our own mortality at the bay. Just like a machine, once started, will hardly cease from working. Such an advancing world is undergoing dynamic changes along with the dynamic effect of human brain. At the edge of 2019, the sudden outbreak of the novel corona virus had totally cast a spell in terms of our lifestyle , daily activities that we are even now trapped in this dangerous spell of Covid – 19 with deaths and illness everywhere. No one has predicted it to be an unprecedented time with many being indifferent to the highly contagious form of novel coronavirus. As a result of that, we in devoid of any choices had to embrace the terrible events unfolding in front of our eyes with sadness, agonies being prevalent everywhere with government imposed lockdown, soaring prices of market and deserted places everywhere. Hence this Covid -19 has definitely changed the world and I am no different. I am a simple living girl who is a regular learner with so much of dreams to achieve. Like every other child, I go to school every day with an intense motivation of learning some new things in the form of knowledge to be a creator of new things in the near future. My attachment with that of the school as a temple of learning has indeed been so pure with good devotion and faith.

However , the dreadful effect of Covid -19 forced us to stay at home and we were supposed to be doing all the works from the home where you live. I, being a student has been attending virtual classes ever since to this day through a cell phone that I end up spending much of my day looking at the phone watching lectures, writing notes and exchanging my doubts with my teachers. Who in a wild world has expected such thing? This new world of being a student has definitely been a new thing for me and at this time of my life, it is important that I reflect my inner characters of self responsibilities, self awareness and priorities will definitely matter a lot in terms of my own educational growth. Attending classes has become more difficult in virtual sense for the teachers with many students from different background. Hence I have been trying my level best in assembling the students by calling, texting them to be ready for our class to conduct for the teachers.

In the evening , I have my neighbourhood children and my cousins who come with their unsolved doubts and questions from their lessons. Being a senior and a role model to many of them, I feel it's my moral responsibility to help them in all the small ways as I can. So I help them everyday with their doubts by giving examples and explanation. The time has been hard for almost all sectors regardless of who we are . The virtual classes are going really well , but there is a huge difference in learning directly through a teacher than that through a cell phone. Hence I feel grateful to be having an opportunity to be a teacher for them during the period of pandemic.

Moreover, to have a proper usage of time, I had made a time table which I even follow to this day. By moving along with my schedule, everyday proves to be a very productive day with memorable activities and happiness. I believe, if we don't plan, like every other person, we end up wasting lots of time which we could have used for something better. For instance the cellphone, this small gadget has now laid its claim on almost every person's life that we spend a huge amount of time watching videos, playing games and the huge influence of social media thereby taking us away from the world of reality. I don't want myself to be stuck in a scenario where I don't gain anything in return. So I follow my timetable strictly to be more productive. At the end of the day, there is definitely a huge feeling of satisfaction that I had learned a lot today.

Another thing is the idea of social distance. At this moment of our life, there are no specific medicines to counter the coronavirus. Hence the best possible answer is the idea of social distance. I stay indoors most of the time. This action of mine is based upon my idea of social responsibility. I can help my own people through this hard time by staying indoors and spending quality time with my family.

In conclusion, I am feeling delighted to experience a new world dealing with unprecedented measures and diversities. It has a very huge impact on me as it taught me many lessons surprisingly. I plunged into both cheery-gloomy events guided by pandemic and that's what life is all about. Life has many funny ways of teaching us and it's us who have to make it productive. Lastly I hope this awful pandemic to be lost to sight quickly and wish to bring a one more new world with fondness and peace.
